

Devan Joy Heiber

I am a middle school STEM educator with an unwavering commitment to innovating solutions to combat systemic inequity in education. I believe that every child deserves access to a quality, robust, and rigorous teaching and learning experience that develops academic, social, emotional, and life skills. As a lifelong learner, I have dedicated the majority of my career to pursuing higher education and am currently in pursuit of my doctorate degree in education with a focus on STEM curriculum and instruction.

Outside of the classroom, I am a hockey and figure skating coach, traveler, and dog lover. I currently have five wonderfully loving rescues that keep me on my toes. I aspire to maintain a work/life balance while also striving to be my very best for my family, friends, and the students in my care.
